“ We will miss Albert but know that he and Viola re together again and that gives us great peace. We know how he missed her.

Albert and Viola were a great team and worked together to make the laprobes and to teach so many of us how to make them to carry on the tradition. I remember Albert sitting at his sewing machine with his fabric laid out on one side and hit tools on the other. He'd sew some and then take a screwdriver to the machine. Makes me laugh in my heart to remember it.

We pray that the family be comforted by the love and warmth that are Albert and Viola##imported-begin##Sean and Carole Jennings##imported-end##

“ Keith and family, I know the deep sorrow you feel right now but God will carry us all through from day to day. Your father was a very nice man. Things he and your mother did for other people was surely done from the goodness of their hearts.##imported-begin##Dee Russell##imported-end##

“ Grandpa, I don't exactly know the words to say how much I am hurting. All I keep thinking, is how much I should have called more. How much more I could have done to be a better grandson. Then I sit back and think about all the fun you made life for me whenever I was around you. Like connecting a sled to the lawn tractor during winters at the cabin. I always loved that. Especially when I was old enough to drive the tractor. I just loved driving it, and imagining I was in your shoes. I know, in my heart, that you and Grandma are better now than you ever have been. Still watching over your loved ones the way you did your whole lives. I will never forget the things I learned from the both of you. Though I'm crying because your gone, I'm happy knowing you're with Grandma, next to the lord. Exactly where angels should be. I love you Grandpa. More then I could have ever showed. I miss you.##imported-begin##Tommy Russell (Little Tommy)##imported-end##
