“ I want to express my sincere sympathy for the loss of your loved one and I hope the following suggestions help the family members and those who loved () to lessen their grief.

- Talk about your feelings to “a true companion” who will listen patiently and sympathetically.
- If you have feelings of guilt thinking that some neglect on your part contributed to your loved one’s death, realize, though, that no matter how much we love another person, we cannot prevent “time and unforeseen occurrence from befalling those we love.

(Ecclesiastes 9:11)

More than anything else, a relationship with God can help you to cope with the death of someone you love. Isaiah 33:24 promises the time when an end to sickness will become a reality. God will put an end to pain, suffering and even DEATH. God promises at Isaiah 25:8 that death will be swallowed up forever.##imported-begin##S Lee##imported-end##

“ I was so sorry to hear of Cindy's passing. I worked with her at the Department of Labor from the first day she started until we both retired. She was such a wonderful person, always to cheerful. I went to Florida last February to visit her and had a great time for the two days we spent together. My prayers go out to her family and friends. Such a great loss.##imported-begin##Linda Howe##imported-end##

“ I was so sorry to hear about Cindy. I thought of her often and wondered where she was living. We graduated together and I lived on Bent Oak, almost across from your house. We spent a lot of time together and I still remember Mrs. Braun's cookie recipe that I got from her. My love to her remaining family.
