“ So very sorry to read of Evelyn's passing. All great things must end but Evelyn's contributions to the community will remain for years. Her artistic ability, which she shared with so many older people by teaching china painting, will live forever. Not only did she open up a world of enjoyment for me by teaching China Painting, I remember the many other people who ignored their age and were encouraged by Evelyn to draw and paint for their own pleasure. Evelyn encouraged the display of their work for others to see by having Art Exhibits for the public at the Senior Center. Even today, one of Evelyn's former students, who is on dialysis and lives in an assisted living home, spends many hours drawing and painting artistic pictures on note cards which she sends to her many friends. Such pleasure for her to pass the time, only came about by Evelyn's generosity and patience in working with this woman in her class. To me, this tells all about Evelyn's generosity of sharing her skills to help others and enjoying every minute. Great memories for such a lovely and caring person.
