“ My dear great-grandmother, it's been years since we've talked. The last time you saw me, I was a small child. I still remember your residential home, it sparked my curiosity to learn the piano. We would read together, I have the rocks you used to let me play with whenever I visited. I can't remember what your voice sounds like, but I know you're always with me in spirit. I vaguely recall the last day we visited before your death, you couldn't wake up, but my parents assured me that you could still hear what we said. I read to you that day. Do you remember what book it was? I wonder if I've made you proud, if I've lived up to be the woman you thought I'd become. I've recently begun asking questions about my family's ancestry. I can't find much about you or great-grandpa, I wish I could go to you and ask about your life, your parents, the things you loved and who you loved. I hope it's peaceful up there. I'm awaiting you with a warm embrace.

“ We were saddened to read about Mary's passing. We were lucky to be her neighbors after we moved into Catherine Cunningham's home (next door) in 1988. Mary and Rex were wonderful neighbors and we were saddened when they moved from their home on Budlong St. They were so kind and giving that we considered it an honor to watch over their home when they went on vacations. God's peace to the entire family as you say good-bye to a loving mother and grandmother. Sincerely, Larry and Diane Deveau##imported-begin##Larry and Diane Deveau##imported-end##

“ I became a part of this wonderful family the year that MaryPat and I played our piano duet .. 5th grade?
When you-all moved from Lincoln to Alexander, we remained as close as ever... how fortunate I was to be included in all of the Martin vacations and meet ALL of the aunts, uncles and cousins!
MaryPat invited me to a Louis Armstrong concert @ Albion College our freshman year .. and I formed a long-time friendship with her roommate, Jackie Huggins. "Sexy Rexy" and ~Mother Mary~ will be together again, at last! My prayers and compassion to my second family, Bill, Pat, Judy and David and their families.
