Sometimes the flower that is chosen, we feel He's picked to soon.
We're at peace knowing; in God's heavenly garden,
He has placed the ones we treasure.*

“ My daughter Sara was diagnosed with type 1 diabetes last year three days into the school year. Elaine was so wonderful in those beginning days of Sara's illness with helping to notify all the teachers and to help sara cope with the new lifestyle. Elaine would not hesitate to call me or to talk to sara when she was having a bad day. Without Elaine I am not sure this transition would have been so easy for Sara. Thank you for all you did for our family and especially for Sara. You will be missed!##imported-begin##Shelli Wetherell##imported-end##

God be with you during this very stressful time. Just remember, it will be okay. Elaine isn't suffering anymore. The silence is the hardest thing to deal with. She's there, in your heart and in your memories.

“ Elaine's Family and Friends:

Once or twice in a lifetime, you get to meet someone that is everything you would like to be. Elaine was one of those angels given to us. Her smile, her laugh, her ever present positive attitude were an example of love in it's purest form. You fell in love with her the first time you met her, no matter what the relationship was. She was a daughter, a sister, a wife, a mother, a friend, a co-worker, a cousin, an aunt. All roles she took very seriously and performed those roles effortlessly, or made us believe that.

Our hearts are breaking right along with you at this time. We are once more reminded of how short life really is, and we re-evaluate our priorities for necessary changes until our time here is finished. Her light was bright and she found comfort in the arms of the angels. She faced her illness with great courage and strength. There will be no victory in the grave that holds her body because she believed. Her spirit will remain alive as long as we keep her present in our hearts.

Her men must remain strong and together in this time of sorrow. A future will be revealed when the time is right. Reach out to those who love you so much, we know all to well how your heart is breaking.

Our love for you is constant, and our arms and ears will be open anytime, anywhere. When you are weary, lean on your faith and family. Elaine is now with those who have gone before her. They were waiting with open arms and are rejoicing, for her pain and suffering are now over. Now, a new life begins.....
